DETAILED ACTION

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 8/13/2003 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-3,5-15,17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for mustard and turmeric for treatment of gastric hypomotility diseases, does not reasonably provide enablement for vanilloid compounds in general, including capsaicin for the reasons of record and the further reasons below.

Examiner has duly considered Applicant's arguments but deems them unpersuasive.

Applicant appears to argue that the specification provides ample enablement because the vanilloid compounds are described. Examiner reminds Applicant that the written description requirement is separate and distinct from the enablement requirement. In re Barker, 194 USPQ 470 (CCPA 1977), cert. denied, 434 U.S. 1064 (1978); Vas-Cath, Inc. v. Mahurkar, 19 USPQ2d 1111, 1115 (Fed. Cir. 1991). See In re Armbruster, 512 F.2d 676, 677, 185 USPQ 152, 153 (CCPA 1975) ("[A] specification which describes' does not necessarily also enable' one skilled in the art to make or use the claimed invention."). Examiner has present evidence that vanilloid compounds have different effects on gastric motility and that capsaicin increases orocecal transit time. If a vanilloid compound does not act as a laxative it cannot be said that the Specification, notwithstanding its description, enables one of ordinary skill in the art to make and/or use the claimed invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1,3,5,6,8,10,12,14,15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Drug Launches (1993) and view of the acknowledged prior art and Schmidt et al. (US Pat. 5,424,064), Holtman et al. and Sable et al. for the reasons of record and the further reasons below.

Drug Launches (1993), the acknowledged prior art, Schmidt et al. (US Pat. 5,424,064), Holtman et al. and Sable et al. were discussed in the prior Office Action and the same are incorporated herein.

Examiner has duly considered Applicant's arguments but deems them unpersuasive.

Contrary to Applicant's arguments the prior art does suggest that simethicone is effective in treating disturbed gastrointestinal motility (See Holtman et al.). Further, the prior art teaches the combination of biscodyl and simethicone and that fullness or bloating are gas-related or linked to disturbed gastrointestinal motility (See Holtman et al.). Further, Holtman et al. does suggest that simethicone is effective in increasing gastrointestinal motility in that the effects of simethicone are "not limited to 'gas-related' symptoms. As such, one of ordinary skill in the art would be motivated to combine biscodyl and simethicone with the expectation that the combination would be more effective in treating fullness or bloating.

Therefore, the claimed invention, as a whole, would have been prima facie obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made, because every element of the invention has been collectively taught by the combined teachings of the references.

Conclusion

All claims are drawn to the same invention claimed in the application prior to the entry of the submission under 37 CFR 1.114 and could have been finally rejected on the grounds and art of record in the next Office action if they had been entered in the application prior to entry under 37 CFR 1.114. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL even though it is a first action after the filing of a request for continued examination and the submission under 37 CFR 1.114. See MPEP § 706.07(b). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
